D PLUS 27 -- 3 JULY 1944

The Division attacked despite heavy rainfall at 0630 hours after days of waiting, reorganization and preparation. The Division's mission was to attack, seize and secure Hills 131 (195875) and 95 (188955) and the high ground northeast of LA HAYE DU PUIT known as the LA POTERIE RIDGE. Flanked by the 79th Infantry Division on the right and the 90th Infantry Division on the left, the 82d was to be pinched out of the VIII Corps attack and was to assemble and await further orders. The Division attacked according to plan, with the 505th Parachute Infantry on the right, 508th Parachute Infantry in the center and 325th Glider Infantry on the left. The 2d Battalion 507th Parachute Infantry, initially covered a small draw between the 325th and 508th. Stubborn resistance was offered initially by the 265th and 353d German Infantry Divisions reinforced by OST Battalions. The enemy had made good use of the 11 day delay to organize an elaborate defense. However, by aggressive action the Division moved ahead to seize Hill 131 by noon and to secure the eastern edge of the LA POTERIE Ridge, exclusive of the town of LA POTERIE (221857) by dark. Fighting was sharp and severe and enemy defensive positions were heavily mined and booby trapped. Many casualties were inflicted on the enemy. The Forward Division Command Post moved to AUVRAIRIE (209887).

325th Glider Infantry Regiment

With the 1st Battalion on the left and the 2d Battalion on the right, the regiment jumped off at 0630 hours, meeting considerable small arms and mortar fire. In the vicinity of LA DRANGUERIE the 3d Battalion was committed temporarily to close a gap that had developed between the 2d and 1st Battalions at 1000 hours. The 90th Infantry Division on the left flank was held up, leaving the flank exposed and under pressure. By 1600 hours the 325th had reached the town of FAUDEMER (240868). At 1550 hours the regimental objective was changed from Hill 95 to the eastern edge of the LA POTERIE Ridge to include the town of LA POTERIE. The 2d and 1st Battalions continued to attack towards the town, but increasing enemy opposition prevented the capture of the town by nightfall. The 3d Battalion was again placed in the line, and the regiment dug in preparatory to attacking and seizing LA POTERIE the following day.

505th Parachute Infantry Regiment

The regiment attacked at 0630 hours initially with the 1st and 2d Battalions in column, the 2d Battalion leading. Passing the creek line at VARENGUEBEC, the 2d Battalion seized DUPINERIE Ridge (north of Hill 131) by 0830 hours and resumed the attack at 1015 hours with the 1st Battalion abreast and on the right. These two battalions, by bold advances, secured the north slope of Hill 131 and the ST. SAUVEUR LE VICOMTE - LA HAYE DU PUIT Highway by 1225 hours despite heavy enemy artillery fire, mines, and booby traps. The 3d Battalion followed the assault battalions to mop up by-passed pockets of resistance. The regimental zone was enlarged at 1550 hours to include all of Hill 131. The 3d Battalion moved into position through the 2d and into the 508th Parachute Infantry's area on the southern slope of Hill 131. The regiment dug in by the end of the day along a line from LA SANGSURIERE south to LES ROULAND and then to a junction with the 508th Parachute Infantry at BLANCHELANDE. Preparations were made to continue the attack on 4 July.

507th Parachute Infantry Regiment

The 2d Battalion, under regimental control, attacked at 0630 hours, flanked on the left and right by the 325th Glider and 508th Parachute Infantry Regiments, respectively. The Battalion cleared all enemy from its area and reached its objective, LA FAUVERIE (223869), by 1700. Preparations were then made to attack to the south the next day. Other units of the regiment remained in Division reserve south of VINDEHOUTAINE and prepared to follow the advance of the 325th Glider Infantry on Division order. The regiment moved to the vicinity of LA DRANGUERIE at
