The Division crossed the DOUVE River south of ETIEVILLE and established a fire bridgehead extending south to PRETUT. Control was made with the troops in the CRETTEVILLE - SAUPTÉ area and the entire Division area south of the DOUVE was cleared of enemy. The 90th Infantry Division relieved the 62d of the responsibility of guarding ST. SAUVEUR LE VICOMTE. The Division was attached to VIII Corps which had the mission of protecting the south flank of VII Corps in the VII Corps assault to the north on CHERBOURG.

507th Parachute Infantry Regiment

The 1st Battalion attacked across the bridge west of CRETTEVILLE at 0015 hours to seize VINDEFONTAINE in conjunction with the attack by the 525th Glider Infantry to establish a bridgehead south of ETIEVILLE. After bitter fighting and considerable wiping the Battalion reached its objective by 0740 hours and spent the remainder of the day clearing the town of snipers and pockets of enemy resistance. At 1405 hours the 3d Battalion, 506th Parachute Infantry, passed through the 3d Battalion lines. The remainder of the 507th stayed in position in the CRETTEVILLE - SAUPTÉ sector.

News From 'F' Company

One of the outstanding events to take place in the last two weeks, is no doubt getting all of our stomachs in real good shape. Now, take Pvt. Mike and Pfc. Ed Blahn for instance, they're going to show you how to cook keds more ways than "I can't see it." Anyway, you boys already have shown us that you can cook. For instance where did that sausage all go?

Now don't you get getting any contracts for the engineering department for digging ditches Pvt. Taylor. All you can see him doing these days, is digging and filling holes. Now'd you like to do our four-luckie Taylor?

Pfc. Billy Terryberry and Pvt. Stout have taken up the long and short of this company. Every where you go there's always one of them following the other... and there's no much likeness in the air there, why you're just bound to see them.

As usual, I see Sgt. Gannon is always... and being weird. About the most active fence on the Post is being built by Pfc. Bob Beaudine along the company front. By the way, which keeping you as busy in town, Bob?

Capt. Eddie Thompson and Jackson Harvey are getting all dolled up to be ushers at my wedding. Don't forget your passes boys.

Some people are wondering Pfc. Volante happened to get his picture in the last issue. Well, can you tell us how you get so popular all of a sudden. Bummer! Veratility, all veratility.

"Thorn-Ber-Spencer," had a three-day pass and spent every minute of it in Omaha with a red-haired Sgt. ...?

Sgt. Amyx is looking younger every day.

Well, Pfc. Bob Hurley is still "gawling-up." Every time he comes in from town he's either singing Polish or Irish songs or coughing. Cpl. Linka is in love in three to go. Say Linka you are a corporal, aren't you?

Pfc. Coffin has a new machine gun and brother, he's sure making those shells fly.

I must apologize to Pfc. Mammone for having him listed as a Pvt. in our last issue. Seems to me I was correct for awhile. Mac-Moe, I thought that little Greek girl had you fully to herself.

It's very nice having Sgt. Colledge back on the Post. He's long stay in the hospital Good luck, Sgt.

Coming from a "killed" wound Pvt. James Beatty has been up and around. Hurry up, Jimmy and get well, you're missing lots of fun. The way you have a good time on your furlough and don't you even think of getting out.

Oh, yes, that red-haired Sgt. was from the C. A. P., wasn't he? Sgt. Spencer.

Well, it's time for Pvt. Quintanilla to use the correct pass, you forgot to wear your dog-tag, Kidder.

There are a lot of remarks as to the size of musketeers in the troop but, but I don't see they have out here are as big they have a super-chance in Camp Ryan.

I can add to this column: Congratulations, Col. Timmer.

LOST

A heavy sterling-silver parachute bracelet with original G. I. attach. Please return to Pvt. Lloyd H. Ballingrud, H. Co., Howard.

BROTHER, YOU CAN TAKE IT FROM HERE . . .

Did I hear somebody say we were hurtin'? How do you think these two guys feel? Of course, you remember Louisiana?

Reveille to Taps . . B Company

Sgt. Douglas Test

What next Josephine? Clifford Phillips of Alliance presented our company with a new mascot several days ago. From time to time the boys have had dogs, chimpanzees, a goose, rabbits, snakes and a few have even complained of pink elephants dancing around the barracks on Monday mornings. However, Mr. Phillips' gift tops the list. Yes, we have a genuine live-hoosie Coyote in our folds now. He takes no quarter and gives none of several of the boys have learned the hard way. In event a copy of the paper gets to the fellows who left on orders, they will be interested to know that we have named the coyote "Yack" in memory of S/ Sgt. Jack Duncan. He is just as mean and wild as Duncan, and as Pfc. Izzy Schwartz claims, there is a strong racial resemblance. Pfc. Edmund Slutsky, however, maintains that it isn't fair to the new mascot because Duncan couldn't wiggle his ears.

As this is being written, Sgt. Sokolowski is doing an expert job of mopping the orderly room floor. Man alive can he do a beautiful job of giving Cpl. Maxie hell for giving him the assignment. Don't worry Bask, it all comes out in the washing.

or rather the mopping thereof. Seems that matrimony is about to take another poke at us. The army says that in the spring a young man's fancy turns to thoughts of Khaki, but Cpl. Hattiloff and Pvt. Pelcier disagree and reverting to type, have allowed their heads to moon and hearts to become full of love to it, boys.

There is no doubt that furloughs are the greatest morale builders that the army has. There is nothing that we look forward to with as much anticipation and eagerness. But, boy, oh, boy, did you get a gander at the first bunch that returned? George George Stampf cowers that he hurt his back on the train coming back. Cpl. Bill Meyer blames the Spring on his condition. Pvt. O'Neill Blue accuses the long train ride of leaving him in such a lousy state. You might as well confess to it all, boys. We understand.

Pvt. Henry Raffello was walking down the street in Scranton, Pa. the other day when he met a fair haired girl of Uncle Sam's Navy. The sailor looked at, laughed and exclaimed, "Alone boy." A nice case of assault without a battery resulted.

AFTER THE DURATION
Pfc. SIX DEPT. Pvt. Joe Sinton is going to black tie Jackers. Lt. Charles Perham is going to get a five gallon still, a fishing pole and head for the hills. Pfc. Andrew Sursyak is going to continue his intelligence activities until he gets Sgt. Hummer's serial number for Lt. Chester McClell.

Congrate to the whole company on the record we are making concerning the AWOL boys. That day off was a real treat (even if a few MPs don't agree) and we have another one coming soon. Let's keep up the good work. Yeah, I have a furlough coming soon, but that isn't the only reason for this paragraph. The better record the company builds, the better off we all will be when we are being sent over there.

Well, I'll sign off with the latest and one of the best news items of recent weeks. Here "Sgt. Lawrence Thornton and Sgt. Oscar Cavallini recently made a trip to the West Coast on official business. Curious passengers on the train were especially interested in the new medal ceremony. Sure, that's right you guessed it—the boys told them it was the new anti tank weapon.

Dearest JCMS!—Among the entries in a recent rifle shoot was a SPAR, Josephine Slingsby. She didn't win.

SIDELINE NOTES

By A. J. Smith

"You meet a girl and you surrender."

Though God knows why, you're kind and tender.
You're husband, cover, sister, brother,

Companion, hanker, father, mother.
You try your best to be worthy of her;

You know you have her;
You're her completely, and you're "Dawling it."

And what thanks do you get?
The girl—she knows it!"

It has been read at the opponents of the fourth term will have three slogans to beat. They are: "Halt behind your commander — in — chief." "Don't change your horses in mid-stream." "You can't beat someone with nobody."

Here's one that is hard to beat. A Corporal in Arizona placed a long distance call to his girl in New York. When he had her on the line he said: "Darling, I would give anything to see you."

"And I want to see you, too, my regular girl."

When they hung up they stepped from adjoining booths and met face to face.

He had stopped in Fort Huachuca enroute from Alabama. Meanwhile, leaving her brother-in-law, had been injured, she hurried from New York. On arrival she phoned her mother back home and while they were talking the Corporal's call came in. The girl's mother took the message and handed the two instruments together and let the couple carry on from there.

A fellow told me that these post girls should be tagged as victory pups. They have all the colors of the United Nations and it takes more nerve than a paratrooper to wear them.

It doesn't pay to be too optimistic. We kicked some Nazi divisions in Africa. Hitler has 250 more in Europe.

American troops in Africa received 238,000 bags of mail from the folks back home. That shows the boys weren't forgotten. Yet I have found that in date it has taken five weeks and so far I haven't received one. Let's hope which I have written recently for.

Sgt. Halsey Dodd Of 'A' Co. Selected As OCS Member

Sgt. Halsey H. Dodd of Co. A was recently selected to go back to Ft. Benning to attend Officers' Candidate School. Sgt. Dodd has been in the service since he has made many friends since he came to the regiment last Sept.

Sgt. Dodd's home is in Moss Point, Miss. He is a graduate of the University of Alabama, class of '42. He was in the service in advertising and selling. His wife came in Alliance when the Regiment was in there. She is also a graduate of her husband's former alma mater.

"Coyote" B Company's Mascot

- The mascot of Company "B" is a little brown-eyed coyote, named "Tinkle." This native Baluchistan is the only one of his kind on active service with the Parachute Troops . . . Now that he is getting a little larger we will have our house crated, waiting to see his reaction to chickens and livestock. The men in the picture are 1. Sgt. Fennell and Pvt. Swartz.
